Autocom, Delphi, DataSnap, LanguageTools and XLang.Q: Label - "User" name for user of the Administration area using ASP.NET/VB I have a need to display the "User" name of the user of the Administration area - for example, a user named "John Smith" should see "John Smith" when they are in the Administration area. I am also looking to "link" the user and their login within the database. Is there a built in function that can be used? Any suggestions? A: Using ASP.Net you can use Request.LogonUserId() to get the user that is currently logged in. If you use a WebApp, it is passed as a querystring parameter (?Id=the_user). Using VB.Net you can use HttpContext.Current.User to get the current user ID. Additionally, you can use Forms Authentication to store the user's
