I'm getting an error when I try to import a csv file in Swift 3. Here is the code: `func getURL() -> URL { let documentDirectory = NSSearchPathForDirectoriesInDomains(.documentDirectory,.userDomainMask, true).first! let url = URL(fileURLWithPath: documentDirectory, isDirectory: true) return url } func test2() { let file = "file.csv" let url = getURL() print("Try to download: \(file)") do { let data = try Data(contentsOf: url) if let csv = CSV.from(data: data, withHeaders: true) { print("Success") } else { print("Fail") } } catch { print("Error while downloading file.") } } I get the following error: Try to download: file.csv Error while downloading file. I already tried: Conforming to AnyObject and reading answers I found on the web. Adding file extension, while it's working with.txt,.xlsx and other things. A: I think this is pretty simple. You can do it as shown below. func test2() { let file = "file.csv" let url = URL(fileURLWithPath: NSTemporaryDirectory()) as String 6d1f23a050`
