this level is yet another daybed. shrek must stay in this daybed during the course of 5 nights. there are various new obstacles that appear this time. if you want to escape from the daybed, climb the stairs to get to the other side. hatch door on daybed and make your way to that hatch. use head butt or jump from the daybed to get out of that hatch. for more exciting and dangerous challenges, you can gimmick-jump from the daybed to the third story to the second story to the first story. watch out for weird creatures, donkey traps and the narcoleptic donkey. on the first story, you will encounter shrek's evil twin. jump on the staircase and climb the ladder. guard the stairs and fight them. for safe & easy escape, walk to the exit to find out where your final destination is. well, i enjoyed the previous levels of this game. for me, its the only five nights at shrek's hotel where i just sits in my room all day. when i just sits and relax all day, i enjoy the game much more. each level of the game is challenging and exciting. 5 nights at shreks hotel is my favorite levels of the game. a good concept about redemption, you can redeem yourself. i liked the different elements of this level. there is so many different techniques to do the challenge. if you think its a hard level, it is hard. shrek holds the fifth of a series of award shows to celebrate the best christmas movies of the year. the only problem is that shrek has never been to the ceremony in 14 years. he embarks on a quest to win this year's oscar for best supporting actor. to achieve this goal, he has to attend the awards ceremony. to avoid being seen, he disguises himself as a lowly garbage collector. but the movie's director, dug, who is the only other winner in history, turns up at the ceremony! realizing the situation, dug tries to give the award to shrek, but he is too late.

shrek now has a competition on his hands. its time to be the best.
